

Marleny Tzicap is a K'iche' Mayan from Momostenango, Guatemala. She has a degree in Bilingual Intercultural Education and is currently finishing her advanced degree in Bilingual Education with orientation in teacher-training at the Rafael Landivar University. She also has certificates in Mayan Linguistics and Mayan Glyphs. She has worked as a linguistic researcher, supervisor and trainer of facilitators, translator, university instructor, and teacher of the K'iche' language. Marleny is presently the technical coordinator for the K'iche' Linguistic Community of the Mayan Languages Academy of Guatemala. She participated in the 2nd Mayan Congress, organized by the Universidad Autonoma de Mexico UNAM in 1998. she also formed part of the commission responsible for standardizing the use of vowels in Maya-K'iche'. Her professional interests include use of technology to create educational materials to respond to multiethnic, linguistic, and social needs of Guatemala. She also aspires to be a professional who breaks ground for Mayan population, especially women and children. She recently developed an interactive CD-ROM to help other K'iche' speakers learn the written form of their language.